Strobe recommended for
Whole Household

The Orca™ Intelligent Wireless Interlink Technology allows multiple units to be wirelessly interlinked to protect the whole household. When one alarm activates, the entire network activates.

This unit does not have a sensor as such but receives wireless notifications from other interlinked smoke or heat alarms in the Orca system.

The two alarms (strobe and vibrating pad) can be operated independently or together.

The vibrating pad is designed for placing under pillows or cushions. The strobe can be used anywhere in the house.
